Digimon Reborn Chapter 1

Digimon Reborn

Chapter 1: The Digital World

Description: It was a gloomy morning in Tokyo, Japan for Desmond Park on his way to school from his house with his two friends Drew Loccard and Alice Carson. Drew is an exchange student from Scotland and Alice is an exchange student from America and so was Desmond. Alice was a 13 year old girl with dark brown hair that was long and she was also tall. Drew is a 13 year old boy that is very tall and has black hair. Desmond is also a 13 year old boy with dark brown hair and is also very tall.

Story:

Hey Drew what are you doing this afternoon, said Desmond. Nothing of importance. Ok how about you Alice. I don't think I have anything for this afternoon. Why are you asking. Because perhaps you guys could come over and hang out, since today is Friday. So Drew have you gotten the new Digimon cards that were released on Monday. What's Digimon, said Alice? It's a show and a card game that has to do with made up digital monsters. Ok cool."As they were turning the corner they saw their school, The English Middle School of Tokyo, Japan" All right what's our first class, said Drew. English, said Desmond."Right as they stopped talking a weird black shape appeared and ran off and because of curiosity they ran after it". What is that Desmond, said Alice. I don't know but I'm guessing we are about to find out."At that moment a green portal appeared and the dark shape entered it and disappeared and then the portal grew bigger and trapped the three of them inside and when that happened they started panicking and when they calmed down a voice said "Are you ready for the adventure ahead of you" What is this, said Drew. This the entrance to the digital world and these objects in front of you are going to be your most valuable resource in your new adventure, said the voice."At that moment three metal objects appeared in front of them and Desmond grabbed the one that was in front of him and it turned green and then Alice grabbed hers and it turned black while Drew grabbed his and it turned red and at that moment the other side of the portal opened and they stepped outside and as they stepped outside, before them was a vast landscape and coming towards them were Digimon"
